Lived In This Land

In the time of the Yellow Moon
Beauteous Maidens of the Corn
Bid the sleeping earth awake
And with fresh bloom her face adorn;
Beauteous Maidens, bide you here;
Heed the brave flute player's call;
Dance and sing the songs of Spring
And there will be good corn for all.

Our Indians Believe In Democracy

HERE ARE SCENES from different productions of the Masque of the Yellow Moon. Thousands of our students have dramatized parts played in real life by Indians.

We are proud to dedicate this Phoenician to the Indians of the Southwest. Their charm, their utter changelessness throughout the centuries bring us a sense of peace and hope in a chaotic world. Perhaps we can take a lesson from them. They live close to Nature; they believe that their brothers have rights, that kindness and industry are better than war and greed. These First Americans have practiced Democracy in a form more pure and more effective than their White Brothers have ever known.

"If you could write, you could put your song
into a book, and your people
Even to the children of their children
Could know your song as if you yourself were singing.
They could look upon the written page
And say, 'Thus sang Lololomai, our chief, in the long ago . . .
Thus sings Lololomai to-day'."

Our School Stands For Democracy

It is not strange that the school is a stronghold of liberty. All that Democracy — freedom of speech, freedom of thought, intellectual growth — has been a part of this since its inception. And our schools are a part of that which we call Democracy.

Events abroad have only strengthened the determination that the schools go on building strength for citizenship, fighting for that freedom of Democracy so necessary to progress.

Our schools can have only the wisdom of those who lend their time and experience to the cause of Phoenix. It is the duty of the community to maintain the community.

They Have Faith in the Younger Generation

With the recent success of the younger generation in the city of New York, the older generation has been led to believe that the younger generation is the one to lead the world.

PLAY TIME DOESN'T COME TOO OFTEN

There is a lot of work to be done in the school. The children are learning to read and write. They are also learning to do arithmetic. The teacher is very strict. She makes sure that the children are always on their best behavior. She also makes sure that they are always learning. The children are very happy to go to school. They love to learn. They love to play. They love to be with their friends. They love to be with their teacher. They love to be in school.

Cooperation Is Always Their Watchword

Democracy at Work

By the student body of Phoenix Union High School. Self government at Phoenix Union High has been more of reality than of theory. It has been to be in any previous school. The students have found new paths to follow, and have found against any opposition.

HOW DOES IT FEEL

The students of Phoenix Union High School have found that self government is not only a reality, but a reality that is worth the effort. They have found that it is not only a reality, but a reality that is worth the effort.

The students of Phoenix Union High School have found that self government is not only a reality, but a reality that is worth the effort. They have found that it is not only a reality, but a reality that is worth the effort.

The Board of Education of Phoenix Union High School has found that self government is not only a reality, but a reality that is worth the effort. They have found that it is not only a reality, but a reality that is worth the effort.

There is plenty of evidence that the Board of Education of Phoenix Union High School is democratic, smooth-running, and that the students have a wholesome respect for the Board's powers, but at the same time they have found that it is not only a reality, but a reality that is worth the effort.

Miss Ethel Rosenberry comes in for a big share of credit. She spends all her time working, planning and trying to help make all these various activities run as smoothly as clock work. Dean Rosenberry, always ready and able to lend a helping hand to those who need it, is especially adept in boosting the girls over the bumps in bringing Les Folies to the public. # Boys Who Have Big Ideas Can Do Big Things

Our Coyote Club, campus police force, represents the long arm of the law five days a week during noon hours. Members of this group patrol the Eighth Building a student synonym for something hard to enter. And when a student walks with your guilty feet in the shadow of mowing down some of the so-called grass, you'll know its the Coyote Club on the spot.

One coveted position held by an underclassman is running the traffic signal on Van Buren. That was one of our ambitions before we left this place. Oh well, you can't do everything, can you? Anyway, it helped tempus to fugit a little faster at noon when one could sit on the Auditorium steps and watch the lucky stuff!

I have been told that the law is a new-fangled law and that we must get used to this new-fangled law and

There is a genuine bull session, for men only. The Boys Federation is strictly a man-to-man proposition. Meeting every Monday, the Federation has a finger in every pie served to the school.

Who "dished it up" at the Everygirls' Dinner? Federation boys. Who regularly break box office records with their "Mor Follies"? You've got it—the Federation boys. And who helps needy boys and contribute to the management of the entire school? The Federation cabinet, from which stem all Federation activities.

Underclassmen disproved that "greener grow the fresher" at the Freshman-Sophomore Hop in which everyone had a rollicking time, and I was under the sponsorship of—in chorus now—the Federation.

that are out-grown. The main duty of the Board is to check upon the girls who are out of uniform and help them if they need to be helped or reprimand the girls who violate the rules. The Middy Board selects the middy reporters, two from each fourth hour class. Their duty is to check on the girls in each class and turn in their numbers and names. The rules and regulations are very liberal and every excuse, flimsy or valid, is given fair scrutiny. Just as the Middy Board is designed to help and serve, so it is with the hostesses. These are the girls who sit in the halls and see that everything is orderly and without confusion. Great demands are often made of these girls everything on hand from a safety pin to the quantity of X. "Do you have a locker permit?"

Oh, how many times have we heard that far too familiar tune played on our heart strings when we are in a hurry, but they are only doing their duty and we must respect them for it.

The airline stewardess must be courteous, helpful, kindly, and efficient. But then, so must the hostess at PUHS! Our hostesses are becoming qualified for jobs that demand such training. These girls sit in the halls at designated places to help control traffic, supervise classroom-to-locker trips, and see that quiet prevails.

They are ready, also, when guests appear and ask for directions or other information. Many visitors get a favorable impression of our school simply from brief chats with the hostess—our stewardesses of the hallways. Their motto is "Service With Smiles!"

They Have a Motto—

Middies and skirts! That has a familiar ring to all the girls in this school. They condemn them; they admire them. Far from being unattractive, the uniforms were chosen by the girls themselves. They have met the general need in a fine manner.

Elected for their dependability, the Middy Board performs innumerable tasks and duties pertaining to the regulation of middies and skirts. They arrange for a system of "hand-me-downs" so that those who are in need of such help may benefit by middies

Hey, Quiet! We've Got Something For Sure!

"Hey, quiet everybody. I've got something!"

English That Lives

You may not sign up for homemaking, or sheet metal work, or chemistry, but if you attend Phoen High for any length of time, you must take English. Not that the assignment is a chore. Far from it. English Department work is not confined to scanning abstract verse or chasing down the nominative derivative of an abstruse adverb. Current happenings, contests, radio programs, motion pictures, debates, dramatics, creative writing, newspaper work—all these and English too!

Directing the English work is Mr. Avery Olney. In addition to his own teaching, he shares the responsibility, with Mr. Verne Jones, of the comprehensive reading tests program by which students are classified according to their needs in that field.

State champions! This was the honor for the four boys in above picture. Maybe you thought the debaters didn't work so hard this year. But the bronze plaque that the team is admiring is ample proof that the debate squad brought home the debate championship of Arizona, the highest honor for this activity.

After doing a little "springing," we were ready to win. In winning the tournament the team, composed of an affirmative and a negative team of four members each, turned in a perfect record, winning all six of their tournament debates. It is not often that even winners set such a record. In short, this was a real year for the debaters.

Self-Expression Is An Asset These Days !

Public spirited citizens often are handicapped in their inability to express themselves. But such students who have ambitions to enter public life find worlds of opportunity in public speaking at Phoenix High.

Pride and joy of the Public Speaking Club is Bill Ramsey, student body president, who captured the State Oratorical Contest trophy in the Divisional contest held at Reno, Nevada.

Although only a junior, Bill has been interested in public speakers turned out by the club.

What about the activities of the rest of the club? Held in Mesa last fall the studies of PUHS gratings, and dramatic readings, the highest rating was given to the club.

The most active members of the club are the League, the national club for high school debating. Phoenix, Tempe, or Junior College. This was the state debate tournament held in Phoenix early in April. It first offered two years ago.

The question debated was "Should we form a cartel with the rest of the world?" The squad debated the sphere for the "Resolve" that the club was holding trade.

They Are First To Contact The Public

Selected from the junior and senior classes upon recommendation of faculty members, high merit records, grade averages, attendance and uniform records, girl and boy secretaries assist in Dean Rosenberry's and Dean Stone's offices respectively

"Assistants are valuable to the running of the office," Miss Rosenberry explains. Their duties are to assist in typewriting, and in general act as receptionists in the offices. They have the first contact with callers, whether by phone or visitors in person. These students have opportunities for learning in actuality

Annually the secretaries sponsor a project. This year the girls planted flowers in the window boxes outside the second floor windows of the First Building, and in general brightened up the office with new curtains, a canary which rivals Bing Crosby's best, and similar feminine touches

The girls' Honorary Auxiliary and Boys' Les Garçons Escritaires are clustered to take care of the social functions of these student secretaries. Monthly business meetings and bi-monthly picnics and dinners keep them busy, both in and out of the offices

Far From The Clamor Of A Noisy World

A quiet, studious atmosphere pervades the library, where students and teachers are gathered for a literary discussion. The room is filled with bookshelves, creating a sense of a vast, quiet world of knowledge.

A group of students and a teacher are seated on the floor, surrounded by bookshelves. They are engaged in a discussion, with the teacher standing in the background, facing the group.

When the students are asked to read the story, they are given a chance to share their thoughts and feelings. The teacher listens attentively, encouraging them to express their opinions. The students are given a chance to read the story, and they are given a chance to share their thoughts and feelings.

We Can Appreciate Such Efficiency

Visual aids have found a warm welcome at Phoenix High. To educate students through motion pictures, Mr. J. C. Hays started the Service last year with the idea in mind of relieving the teachers of all responsibility connected with such a project.

Made up entirely of boys who have been thoroughly trained, the Service has been a great help to the teachers. Teachers have to do is order their films, and arrange for their showing. Through their cooperation, students have been privileged to see films on safe driving, health, travelogues, and other subjects.

How times have changed! Remember what a time we had getting into the swing of things at high school? Why, it took three years for us to get out of the freshman class, at least in a social sense. But freshmen girls now have big sisters like those representing the Senior Sponsor's group. These campus-wise damsels are smoothing the way for the youngsters who need and appreciate such help.

Our A Cappella Maids Make Enviably Record

Music at Phoenix High is both an avocation and a science. Among the music groups of the school the A Cappella choir has made an enviable record for itself in the past years. Directed first by John J. Boyer and then by Miss Weltha Graham, the group has been known to Phoenix civic organizations for its availability and for its repertoire of enjoyable numbers.

This year the group took part in many school activities as well as in outside programs. Among the campus attractions were the Girls' Folies, the Christmas pageant, the Easter assembly and the Masque of the Yellow Moon. In dancing as well as in singing the girls showed their talent when their part in the Masque called for a dance routine along with the song

One of the most important events of the year was the annual concert of A Cappella choir and the Girls' Band. A program of variety and musical interest was the result, the girls singing such well known numbers as "Dedication", by Franz; "Open Our Eyes", by MacFarlane; "Ave Maria", by Schubert; and a new number, "Song of the Winds", by Hawks. Other numbers on the program were "Life's Joys", by Oley Speaks, and "Sanctus", by Buck.

As a part of the choir activities, Miss Graham has organized a sextette of A Cappella members. This group includes Dorothy Jean Alexander, Blanche Smathers, Mary Frances Parker, Norma Harris, Lucille Lunt, and Martha Young

Through 'Portals' To a Riot Of Fun!

Through these Portals, on November 6 and 7, rushed hundreds of yelling, eager students to participate in two hours of study conference, vaudeville skits, catchy melodies, and comedy.

Truly a smash hit, the 1940 Les Folies by the Girls' League, carried the theme to the school, featuring scenes from some familiar building opening act to the show. The girls showed off to their best at the performance. Bette Gasing. "To have Fun" was the most riotous situations, in which a car was stranded on the desert with a flat tire.

Ellen Brooks was elected to fix it. The farce was all over as "We Take Our Places in America" and graduate from high school to pass out "Through These Portals."

Director of this triumph was Lois Seely Holladay assisted by teachers of the Allied Arts Department. Students who took leading parts in the Folies were Betty Gasing, Ruth Daniel, Ruthie Reese, Margaret Perry, Charlene Bisch, Venita Schirmer, and Nancy Brown.

In a dramatic skit, directed by Miss Mila Bray, the Board of Control was cleverly burlesqued by Bill Holcombe, Betty Jean Simpson, Beatrice Smith, Bob Touhy, Ozie Temple, Betty Runyon, and Elsie.

Americans—All For One And One For All

An understanding of how people in other countries live and what their problems are is considered more important by our foreign language teachers than learning the fundamentals of a language.

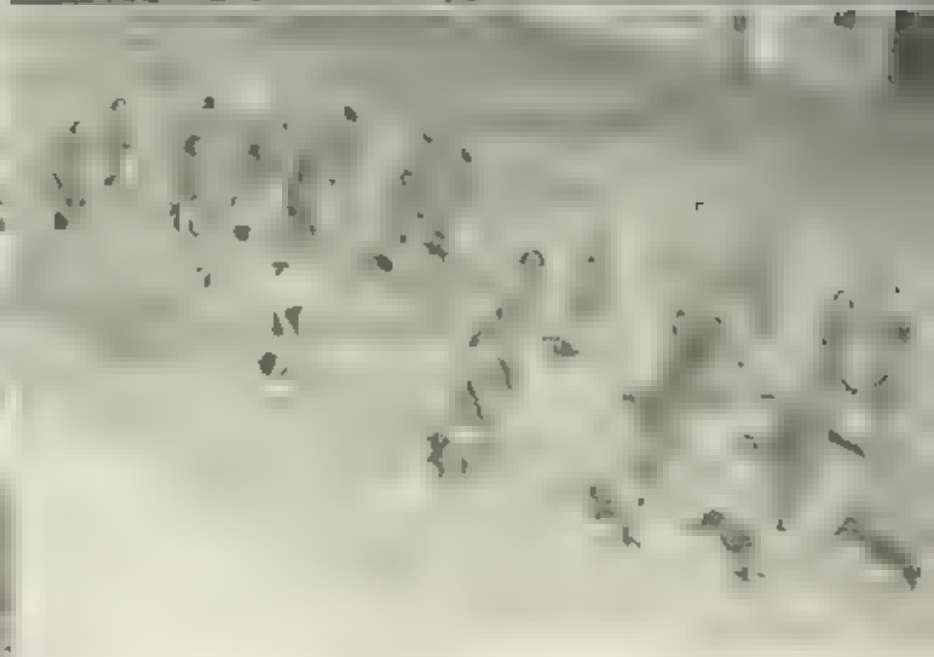

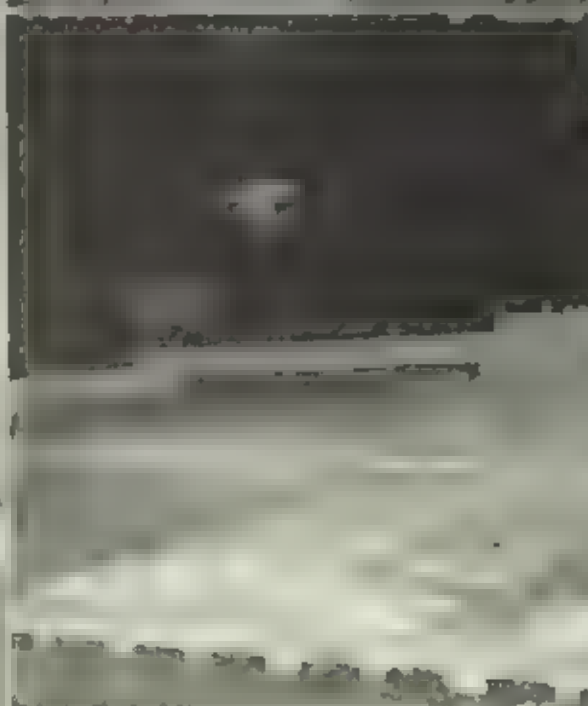

We can't help being grateful for this teaching attitude when we think of the chaotic condition in which the world now finds itself. We just can't hate foreign peoples whom we really understand.

Students of all races find only fair play and tolerance among their fellow students on the PUHS campus.

Democracy, Its Theme—Beauty, Its Key Word

"The greatness of these United States lies in our ideals . . ." During all its sixteen years, the Masque has been a source of pride and honor to the community. It has won the acclaim that all previous Masques have won.

Telling the story of America under the title, "These United States", the Masque depicted the saga of Democracy, using outstanding occasions in the history of our country to present the theme.

The Masque began with a review of the history of the United States. The story of the American Revolution was told in a series of scenes. The story of the Civil War was told in a series of scenes. The story of the World War was told in a series of scenes. The story of the Democracy First ideal to the audience in colorful pageantry. Following this, cultural highlights in our history received attention by means of dances, comedy acts, songs, and colorful maneuvers.

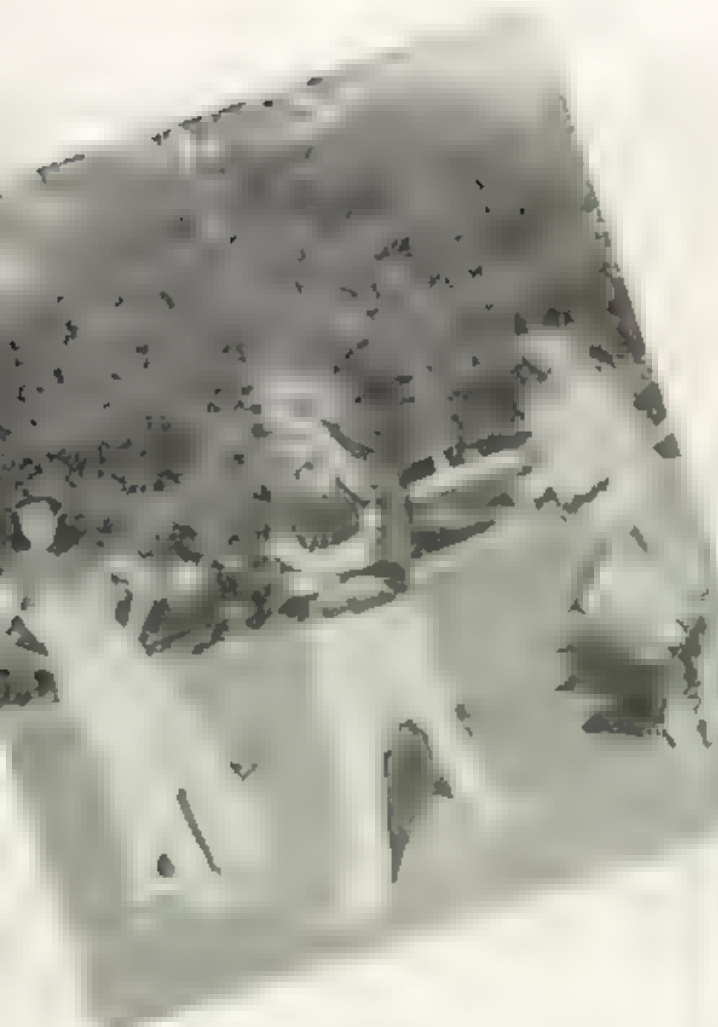

Mrs. Cordelia M. Perkins, director of the Masque, earned rich praise for the excellence of the production. Under her supervision, more than one hundred teachers and 3,000 students representing two high schools, the Vocational School and the Junior College combined resources to bring "These United States" to a perfect climax.

From every nation in the world come young people into Phoenix Union High School. However instead of saying proudly, "I'm a Togaboschco-gaan," for example, they are saying, "I'm an American, but I remember how it was where I came from—"

It's that way in the Cosmopolitan Club. Without ever forgetting that their country is America and only America, the members of the club give each other the benefit of their knowledge of and experience in other countries. To get true pictures of other nations as they are at the present

Not satisfied with participation in the PTA events and operettas, the two class plays, or sports, Masque and Bauble members participate in Little Theatre activities, numerous one act plays, and eventful club gatherings. They write plays, imitate stars of radio and screen, and are not unlikely to strike dramatic poses on the Fifth Building fire escape steps as on the Auditorium stage.

To Understand Nature..That's A Worthy Aim!

Back-to-nature movements have been a regular thing on the Physiography Club program, but this active campus group really lives and exults in Wild West atmosphere.

Sponsored by popular "Pop" Wilson, the Physiography group, numbering over fifty active members, travels far and wide to recapture the romance of early Spanish days, Indian settlements, and the like.

In addition to their trips, the club members compete on projects to win special honors.

The 5-C Club, organized and sponsored by Mr. Roy M. Langdon, was founded in the fall of 1940. It's five social objectives, to be attained through the study of nature, are the enhanced developments of Character, Citizenship, Conservation, Country, and Culture. The official motto is a quotation from John Burroughs: "To understand Nature is to gain one of the greatest resources of life."

Taken directly from nature itself is the club's music, poem, bird, and flower. These include "Dance of the Hours", "Each and All", the American Eagle, and the Wild Rose.

Nationally known persons have consented to act as patrons to further the work of the club and it is the ambition of its members and faculty advisors to establish chapters in elementary and secondary schools everywhere.

to have a friendly get-together every now and then to expound their ideas about square roots just for the sole enjoyment of taxing their brains. Result: the Mathematics Club, sponsored by Miss Myra Downs.

PHOENIX, ARIZONA - A group of Latin American students and faculty members from the University of Phoenix are posing for a photo in front of the university's main building. The group consists of approximately 15 individuals, including men and women of various ages, all dressed in casual attire. They are standing in front of a large, multi-story building with a prominent entrance and several windows. The photo is taken from a slightly elevated angle, showing the group and the building's facade. The overall tone of the image is positive and celebratory.

Hobbies—Take Your Pick!

There are many hobbies that you can choose from. Some people like to collect things, like stamps or coins. Others like to garden or paint. You can even choose a hobby that you can do anywhere, like reading or listening to music.

When you choose a hobby, it's important to pick one that you really enjoy. That way, you'll want to do it every day. Also, make sure you have the time and space to do it. For example, if you want to garden, you need a yard or a place to put a planter box. If you want to paint, you need a place to set up your easel and brushes.

Football, Fans, Fun!

Football, king of sports, again commanded highest interest of students and townspeople in the 1940 season. To compensate, in part, for the flashy aeronautics of Olea and Blanchard in the previous year, Coach Larry Rouble fielded a hard fighting determined crew that filled the air with passes, pulled surprise plays by the d. and gave the patrons a most exciting season

Altogether, the Coyotes played eleven games. Of these, the Red and Black squad won 6, dropped 4, and tied 1. Surprisingly enough the games lost by the locals were as tense and breath taking as were the ones won by narrow margins. Never did the Coyotes stop fighting win or lose. Nor did they favor with the students or the home town fans. Coaches Rouble, Vernon Tuckey, Robby Robinson and Jesse McComb worked together to plan new modes of attack, scout enemy camps, and plan ways and means of helping the team to win while giving the fans a dandy show.

Opening up the grid season against Yuma, a fighting Coyote squad took the measure of a tough Criminal team 18-7 at Yuma. The game cheered early season depesters, showed off the Rouble aerial flare, and altogether made a great start.

Altogether, It Was A Whoopin' Hoop Season!

Starting the season shortly before Christmas Coach Vernon Tuckey's basketball squad opened the window and in-flu-enza, causing them to to a bad start and drop their first two encounters; one to Globe, 39-30, the other to Coolidge, 16-15

The next tiff proved to be one of the most thrilling of the season, when the Coyotes nipped the North High Mustangs 38-37 in the final minute of play. We screamed ourselves hoarse as the team dropped a thirteen point lead, then finally woke up to grab the game out of the fire

Miami was the next to fall before the Red and Black, by a 41-34 count. Flying into the Vandals'

the squad brought back its season to balance the basket and a hard-luck streak, the basketeers to register a win in their next three frays, dropping games to Peoria, Tolleson, and Yuma by close scores, Coach Tuckey juggled line-ups, called extra practice sessions

The slump snapped! Playing at Tempe, the locals handed the Buffalos a 47-32 pasting, following it up two days later by clouting Wickenburg to the tune of 46-32. It looked like the beginning of a good streak.

At Last, Sweet Victory!

Did we say "beginning of a good streak"? It was! Running up their highest total of points scored all season the Tuckeymen swamped the surprised Tucson Badgers ran up an amazing number of points to win 61-41 and carried the string to three straight. In their next tiff they almost duplicated this feat, crushing Glendale 59-27.

Riding high on the victory wave, the locals were suddenly dunked by Mesa when the phenomenal Jackrabbits threw a wrench into the Coyote scoring machine to win 44-19. Fans won't soon forget Junior Crum!

Smarting from that defeat, the Red and Black turned on the heat against the North High Mustangs and piled up 50 points to the credit in the Mustangs' corral.

Finishing up on the debit side of the hoop ledger, the Coyotes thumped Ajo 47-38 to ring down the curtain on the 1941 basketball season.

Phoenix's baseball team, the Coyotes, have been making a name for themselves. Not only have they won several games, but they have also managed to win state-wide acclaim.

They are a team to watch, and they are a team to cheer for.

Battles Are Thus Won

By the time the Tempe game arrived, the Phoenix boys were really steamed up. No more funny business . . . tighten up on those errors . . . win the game before we put it on ice! It wasn't such a bad frame of mind; especially since those Tempe lads were also determined to win. In spite of the final 8-3 score for the Coyotes, that was one game over which the outcome was never too certain until the last

Sore-pawed and weary, the Coyotes bit the bitter dust of defeat in their next game. Gendae's Cardinals pushed over two runs to blank the Phoenix boys, 2-0.

But the following week it was Tolleson's turn to retire as losers. The Red and Black were able to edge ahead 4-5 in this exchange of hits and misses. North Phoenix seemed headed for the same fate when the locals took an early five point lead. But games aren't won until they're over! The final score was Mustangs 7, Coyotes 5!

Coach Prather's squad finished the season with a bang-up flourish, defeating Mesa 9-8, followed by a rout of the Monarchs.

In summarizing the baseball season, Phoenix fans have no complaints. Pushed into a coaching berth made vacant by the call to arms received by Coach McComb, Assistant Coach Prather took over, polished up a string of inexperienced Coyotes, and gave every opponent bad moments. Consistently good this season were Riveras, Faust, Gallardo, and Karnolsky, although most of the players had spurts of greatness.

Old Sol Finally Came To Their Rescue

Don't let that top picture fool you! It's not often that you can go out behind the Auditorium and catch the boys in any such pose. But with all the heavy "dew" around last fall, the tennis squad members had plenty of time to twiddle their thumbs.

When Old Sol came again to PUHS, the team soon was in top shape. Against such competition as Tucson, Mesa, Yuma, and North Phoenix High, the racketeers made the best of a short season to bring victory home to this campus.

One of the brightest spots in the tennis records this year was the Homer Richards triumph. The Phoenix star out-pointed all comers to win the Southwest's Men's singles title.

As the climax to a successful year, the squad went to Tucson early in May, returned with the singles title and third place in the doubles.

The team was made up almost entirely of veterans, some with two years behind them. Prospects for next year are even brighter, since Coach Doyle won't lose a single man through graduation.

Bright Birds Of A Feather Are These

They are all of a feather, and they all say the same things, they say!

Here, an air of trusting comradeship remains at all times. Under the able direction of the four physical education teachers, Mr. Miler, Mr. Peterson, Mr. Beuchamp, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Amstel, and Miss Myra Hotchkiss, the girls are made to feel free and democratic.

These girls are all of a feather, and they all say the same things, they say! They are all of a feather, and they all say the same things, they say! They are all of a feather, and they all say the same things, they say!

One of the newer features of the Physical Education Department is the Pom-Pom unit which has been introduced by Mrs. Beuchamp. It is a unit which is very popular with the girls. They are all of a feather, and they all say the same things, they say!

I Shot An Arrow--

Since this edition of the Phoenician has an Indian theme, and because Indians are traditionally sponsors of archery in America, there should be a special place in the book for one Mary Thompson, a Phoenix High sophomore, who is also a lover of the bow and arrow!

Although she is just 15, Mary has already graduated from the junior classifications in archery. Holder of the National Junior Championship, Mary competed last March against grown-up experts of archery to win the Arizona title for senior women! In the finals our Mary defeated her nearest opponent by 72 points and later, in the women's American round, triumphed over all other competition to win by a margin of 95 points.

Something can be said for another art that demands precision training—aesthetic dancing. Hundreds of girls each year take part in this activity, the effectiveness of which is best shown by the group dancers at the Masque of the Yellow Moon. In addition to this, folk dances and old-time square dances form an enjoyable part of the program.

After School's The Best Time To Play

As a diversion from their studies the girls of this high school have an excellent opportunity to build sound minds and healthy bodies when they meet after school and take part in all sorts of sports.

The Girls' Athletic Association, sponsored by Mrs. Ruth Hetherington, furnishes all these enjoyable activities. Girls find it wholesome fun to get out and play with each other, learn new ideas, and make new contacts.

A new system of earning awards was inaugurated two years ago. A girl now is eligible for her small letter after she has come out for five sports, her large letter after ten sports, and her gold and silver pin after fifteen and eighteen sports respectively. After she earns her small letter she is eligible for membership in the Girls' Letter Club, also sponsored by Mrs. Hetherington.

The girls also enjoy many social activities during the year, among them being a mother-daughter banquet, a swimming party, and a picnic.

Yes, sir! If you like to have fun, just join these girls in their gym activities!
